Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

While Japan's aggressive policies are generally a matter of indifference to us in America, it is well to realize that incursions, excursions and adventures in Manchuria, China and Inner Mongolia are costing Japanese tax payers a heap of money. The last election was a mild revolt against a government which devoted disproportionate sums to military activities far away from the home islands, with no cash profit to the empire. The hot blooded young militarists took a short cut to rebuking the protesting tax payers. They murdered some of the people's leaders.

Just how many were slaughtered we do not yet know because several of those reported murdered, including the prime minister, came back to life.

These events in Nippon, however, should not be a matter of indifference. If Japan is entering upon a period of Oriental fascism, or rule by a military oligarchy, this country may at any time be forced into a war to protect our Pacific outposts and trade. The island empire has to all practical purposes closed the trade door to Manchuria, is closing it to parts of China, and looks with too much complacense upon our abandonment of the Philippines. Japan has fortified to some extent her mandated islands in the Pacific and is preparing for whatever is the Japanese equivalent of "der tag."

Most Americans feel little concern with Japanese adventures in Asia, nor with Japanese military and naval preparations. We are impressed with their speed in accomplishment, but not with their planning. Their war ships, for instance occasionally turn turtle. Their troops are sometimes trapped, as for instance in a late foray into Outer Mongolia. Their diplomacy lacks truthfulness and dignity. Nevertheless they now have some 100,000,000 people under their Rising Sun flag from whom to draw troops and supplies. The time will come when they will be a formidable power which for the peace of the world will need curbing in Asia just as surely as Germany did in Europe.

The death of Abe Reuf in San Francisco recalls the earthquake and fire of 1907, Eugene Schmitz, the fiddle playing mayor of San Francisco, Francis Heney, Hiram Johnson, then the prosecutors of the corrupt United Railroads and the corrupt board of supervisors, and among the least of these, one Lonergan. The board of supervisors en bloc confessed to being bribed. Shortly after making their formal confession they made it all over again in the San Francisco Examiner offices to the accompaniment of flash lights and the staccato rapid fire of typewriters. And Longergan admitting humbly his great sin, axclaimed at the end of his confession: "An' would to Gaud I had taken me poor woife's advoise and staid wid Foley's pie wagon, and niver been a supervoisor."

Thus in those days of confusion, when San Francisco rose phoenix-like from its ashes, Reuf seized his chance, and elected to the board of supervisors such humble and kindly men as this pie-wagon driver, Longergan, and proceeded to buy their votes en bloc, for great enterprises in the city's regeneration with funds corruptly supplied by the United Railroads and other greedy corporations. Reuf was the scape goat, finally, and upon his shoulders were piled all the accumulated guilt of scores of meu. He expiated his crime in San Quentin and would have probably spent a much longer period there, had not Fremont Older then editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, fired by his sense of outraged justice that one man should bear the burden of guilt for many, exerted his great influence and finally secured his parole. And now Abe Reuf has gone to join Schmitz and many another sinful fellow in the great scandal.

TRAFFIC SAFETY RULES APPROVED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Traffic safety recommendations which will aid in a 50% reduction of accidents were announced by the California Safety Council here yesterday as part of its "life-saving" program.

Safety proposals advanced by the State Safety Council for immediate adoption, after consultations had with traffic engineers, enforcement officers, and other interested groups, embrace the following points:

1. More exacting regulations governing examinations of applicants for drivers' licenses to determine physical and mental competency of all potential operators, under administration of state motor vehicle department;

2. Fingerprinting and photographing of each person to whom a drivers' license is issued in order to provide for identification of those authorized to operate motor vehicles upon our public highways;

3. Mandatory impounding of driver's license or driver's motor vehicle, or both, for increasingly extended periods after repeated conviction for driving while under the influence of liquor, or of reckless driving which results in injury or death to another. This to be accompanied with mandatory penalties involving imprisonment for driving a motor vehicle during the period the driver's license is revoked or suspended;

4. Increased and adequate traffic patrol personnel for enforcement of all traffic regulations, both in cities and elsewhere, thus providing for impartial and rigorous enforcement of regulations governing operation of commercial vehicles as may be necessary to make highways safer for ordinary automobile traffic;

5. Institution of a vigorous state wide campaign to prohibit "tag fixing" everywhere, since existence of this deplorable condition militates against respect for and enforcement of law;

6. Adequate marking, signing and illumination of dangerous intersections, curves, grade crossings, underpasses, bridges, pedestrian safety zones and hazardous obstructions.

7. Erection of raised concrete safety zones wherever they would give added safety to pedestrians or the erection in front of safety zones of large concrete slabs carrying large red reflectors that would warn and protect motor vehicle drivers in night driving.

8. Standardization of signs, types of control equipment and control methods in interest of added uniformity;

Continuous instruction of adults by motion pictures and radio, and young people in the schools, as already provided by law, in matters pertaining to operation of motor vehicles and proper use of highways by drivers and pedestrians;

10. Uniform regulations providing for examination of the adequacy and availability of all signaling devices and braking instrumentalities

11. A positive maximum speed prescribed for use on motor vehicles. lmit of 50 miles per hour on the public highways.

12. Immediate consideration of the problem of protection of livestock moving across or upon highways, particularly in areas where cattle are moving in large numbers.

Other traffic safety recommendations are now being studied by the afety Council, President William May Garland stated. The group is a statewide non-profit educational movement comprising hundreds of News has reached Nevada City that Mr. Clarence Lansdburg of North Bloomfield suffered a stroke of paralysis last Saturday. His many friends hope for him an early recovery.

WOMAN NABBED FOR LIQUOR SALE TO YOUNG BOY

Mrs. Nellie Martin, conducting a resort called "Chat's Place" adjoining Memorial park in Grass Valley, was arrested last night for selling liquor to 17 year old boy. Russell B. Farley investigator for the State Board of Equalization and Sheriff Carl Tobiassen, were making their inspection rounds and had just concluded their call on Mrs. Marton. As they got into their car, three boys drove up and went into the place. The sheriff remarked: "It looks as if we might do some business here." The sheriff and Farley drove around the block then stopped into Chat's place again. The boys were drinking over the bar and the money was still on the counter. Mrs. Martin, who waited upon them was arrested and appeared this morning before Justice of the Peace Moorehouse. She pleaded not guilty and deposited $250 cash bail.

Sheriff Tobiassen and Inspector Farley declare that there has been a large number of complaints of liquor dealers selling to minors, the grand jury being among those who have rendered such complaints. They are determined to clean up such dives and in cases where the guilt is proved will recommend revocation of licenses as well as sugstantial fines.

STEADY GAIN IN NEVADA COUNTY SCHOOLS SHOWN

Though the average daily elementary school attendance in California has decreased in the past three years, according to the "Tax Digest" for March, 1936, Nevada county shows an increase. Statistics for Neada county show averabe daily attendance for the past five years as

1929-30 attendance	1,218
1930-31 attendance	1,253
1931-32 attendance	1,346
1933-34 attendance	1,549
1932-33 attendance	1,405
1934-35 attendance	1,640

The Tax Digest says in "Checking up on the several counties, we find that the decreases have not been confined to any particular locality or group of counties of the state, but starting from small beginnings, have affeced nearly every county. In fact, since 1930 only seven of the fifty-eight counties have been able to keep their record clear of losses. All the other counties have at one time or another registered decreases in total average daily attendance over a previous year. The declines have been pery erratic, no county having lost consistently since 1930. In 1931, thirteen counties failed to show increases, seventeen reported losses the next year, twenty five in 1933 and thirty six for 1934. Last year thirty three counties, representing 77 per cent of the total A. D. A. of the state, showed fewer students in average daily attendance in regular elementary classes than in the year before.

The conclusion that this decline in school attendance indicates falling off of population is, we believe, erroneous. That it foreshadows an eventual decline, there can be no doubt, but that is still some years in the future. It is the direct result of the decreasing number of children born in the United States as a whole sice 1921 and in California since 1924. Authorities on population trends predict a static or declining population for the United States within the next forty years. However, the nation is still growing slowly and California seems to be increasing at a faster rate than the country as a whole.

Mr. Hammill states that all veterans claiming exemption on account of war service must present their honorable discharge papers showing date of enlistment and discharge from service.

The State Board of Equalization has instructed county assessors throughout the state as follows:

"Pending later legal opinions and court decisions, assessors will be required to assess, within their jurisdiction, all automobiles, either new or second hand, in possession of dealers or individuals at 12 noon on the first Monday in March, 1936, on which the state license fee has not been paid to the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

"Before issuing 1936 licenses on these cars the Department of Motor Vehicles will require tax clearances validated by city and county assessors."

HYDRAULIC ASSN. DISCUSSES USE OF DEBRIS DAMS

The California Hydraulic Mining Association, meeting in Grass Valley Saturday heard reports that indicates gravel yardage necessary to make the required showing before the government would install debris-control dams on the Yuba, Bear and American rivers would greatly exceed the storage facilities provided.

It was stated by some of the operators or gravel deposit owners that approximately 200,000,000 yards of storage provided by the projected dams would not accomodate more than 10 per cent of the material which could be offered over a period of twenty years.

With President J. P. Hall of Auburn presiding, the discussions revolved largely around the query of just what the Secretary of War and the California Debris Commission require in the way of commitments or guarantees.

A telegram from Congressman Harry L. Englebright stressed the immediate necessity of owners and operators filing statements as to the gravel yardage and other requirements of the debris commission.

Speakers asserted that operating privileges would be without discrimination, the small operator having the same chance as the larger operators. In each case, however, the usual permit from the California Debris Commission will be required.

J. P. Hall will continue as president and William Esterly as secretary, and the next meeting will be held at Auburn on Saturday, March 14th.

Nobel vs. the You Bet Mining Company, be set aside and that the case be reopened to determine the question of adverse possession only. The plaintiff claimed title to certain property operated by the mining company and Judge Tuttle ruled in favor of the defendant. P. H. Johnson, attorney for Nobel, represented that he had further evidence to offer regarding title, and the order to reopen the case was issued.

Over sixty young people were in attendance at the joint Nevada City-Grass Valley league meeting held at local Epworth league headquarters last evening. An invitation for a return meeting to be held in Grass Valley soon was extended by the Grass Valley advisor, Ralph Cochrane, and was accepted with pleasure by the local group.

The discussion meeting started at 6:00 p m. and was lead by Elton Rodda on the subject: "War and Peace." Church services followed, both groups remaining to hear Rev. H. H. Buckner deliver an inspirational address in the upstairs parlors of the church. A fellowship period followed, beginning with group singing by Joan Grant, and the showing of motion pictures on the Olympic Ice-Sports in Germany, followed. Model Camps

While the bum blockade imbroglio still boils, sane and quiet progress is being made in the job of caring for a large part of that penniless class already in California.

The agricultural section of the State Chamber of Commerce met the other day to consider the farm labor situation involving 200,000 men, women and children who roam the state from spring to autumn picking our crops.

Always, with this migratory population, the problem has been housing. It is probable that much of the disorder, turmoil and violence in their affairs has come about because they have not had the health and respect that decent living conditions imbue.

Without these things, they have often become willing followers of professional trouble makers.

Last year the Federal Resettlement Administration set up model camps, one in the Sacramento and one in the San Joaquin Valley. Today these are looked upon as unqualified successes.

This year, according to word just received from Washington, the Federal agency has acquired funds and approval for establishment of 20 more such camps at suitable centers in fruit and cotton areas.

It would be difficult to overestimate the importance of this problem. After all, agriculture is dependent upon these workers, and California's crops last year were worth $330,000,000.

This action by the Federal government is perhaps not the ultimate solution for California's vast population of migratory workers. But it at least seems a sane step toward finding the answer to a problem that has dogged the Golden State for years.

Two playlets and a skit were given and enjoyed: "Maggie's Miraculous Escape." "The Gathering of the Nuts" and "Boots and Saddles." Decorations and color scheme appropriate to St. Patrick's day were used, the shamrock clover making pleasing motifs. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Mr. Ernest Cole and brother, Dr. Cecil Endicott, left Nevada City this afternoon for Sacramento. They will leave tomorrow for Mr. Sndicott's home in Vancouver, B. C. where Mrs. Cole will spend the next month. Dr. Endicott came to this city for the funeral of his late brother in law, Ernest Cole last Friday.

GOOD SERVICE COSTS NO MORE

A modern establishment—a trained, intelligent and courteous personnel — distinctive motor equipment and other evidences of progress and prosperity are NOT an indication that funeral service charges will be high. A successful concern can be built only by serving honestly and well, at prices that are fair and reasonable.

NAZIMOVA WILL APPEAR IN IBSEN PLAY AT SACTO.

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Northern California's cordial response to New York stage successes playing in Sacramento has assured valley theatre-goers of another dramatic treat on March 9.

This time the attraction will be Nazimova, the renowded Russian actress, who will appear in the powerful Ibsen drama "Ghosts." After a brilliant season in New York, the star is now creating a sensation in San Francisco.

The enjoyment of her Sacramento appearance will be enhanced by the intimate environment in which the audience will witness the production. Instead of using the vast Sacramento Memorial Auditorium, Nazimova has chosen the friendly environment of the small Roxie Theatre, on Ninth Street, between I and J. Formerly known as the Plaza Theatre, this little playhouse housed legitimate productions for several years.

Because less than a thousand people can be accomodated, early reservations to Ye Music hoppe, 1014 10th street, Sacramento, are recommended.

In playing the part of Mrs. Alving in the Ibsen classic, Nazimova is realizing a life-long ambition to interpret the great Scandanivian dramatist to America. Her return to Ibsen follows a series of successes in "The Good Earth," "A Month in the Country," and other Theatre Guild productions.

Mr. Frank Cark, mining engineer of Oakland, was a recent Nevada City visitor coming here on business pertaining to mining property.

Mr. F. M. Harris of North San Juan was a business visitor in Nevada City Thursday.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

A Texas Front Yard.

HOUSTON, TEX. — Because the Texas rangers merged with a prosaic highway patrol, thereby losing their entity as perhaps the finest fighting force for law enforcement that America ever knew, they're saying romance has suffered a death blow.

But I wouldn't go so far as to say that—not about Texas. There's romance in her scope; raw drama in her business. Superlatives grow on trees out here and distance lives up to its name. We may not always fall in love with the fat lady in the sideshow, but her size commands respect. And sometimes, as in this case, there's beauty along with bulk. Take the famous King ranch—the mightiest domain in the hands of a single family in all the world, probably. There is a saying—and a true one—that it's ninety miles from the front gate to the front yard. Think of trying to shoo the chickens out of that front yard!

Irvin S. Cobb

Praising Charles Curtis.

DURING his active life, there was a general journalistic tendency to deprecate Charles Curtis' larger achievements and laugh at his little vanities. Now that he's gone, the newspapers, without regard to their politics, are printing tributes to the distinguished career and fine citizenship of this man who went from an Indian lodge to the second highest elective office in our gift.

Since to criticize our leaders is an almost universal instinct, wouldn't it be fine if we reversed the rule about speaking no ill of the dead and praised a deserving fellow-creature while he could hear what we said—but saved up the scoldings until he'd passed on?

I could elaborate on this text, but must stop to try to think up some small gibe at the expense of some prominent man.

The Yellow Peril.

THEY'VE taken the Japanese war scare from the old cedar what-not and shaken the mothballs out of it and are waving it in the breeze as a signal to the citizens of Los Angeles to remove the women and children to a place of safety and a warning to the folks in Seattle to start building street barricades. Thus we have the annual revival of a time-honored custom.

To be sure, there's a racial difference to be reckoned with. We're a breed of opportunists, the Japanese are a breed of fatalists. The American soldier wants to go home when the mess is over and see if he can get his job back from the lad that smuggled into it while he was at the front; the Japanese craves to rejoin his ancestors instead of his family. So naturally a fellow who'd prefer to go on living is at a handicap fighting a gentleman who thinks you're doing him a personal favor by killing him.

But no matter how acute the peril, I decline to retreat to the Ozark mountains until they prove to me that Japanese explosives will explode when desired, or at all.

White Folks' Melodies.

LEAVING California, I said: "I'm fed up on the kinds of singing that you hear so much of out here. No matter what a Mexican song starts out with, it winds up with something about a dove. And the trouble with Hawaiian singers is that they're always telling you good-by but they never go. Thank goodness, I'll soon be listening to the stuff I was raised on—spirituals pouring gloriously forth from velvety Afric throats."

But I hear now the distressing news that, even here in the deep South, some of the black people are getting so self-conscious or something they want to sing the white folks' comparatively thin and pithless hymns instead of their own rich, glowing melodies.

Think of the race that made "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," not wanting to chant it! Think of a day when "Deep River" is forgotten by its very creators! Think of "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" no longer ringing out where the field hands pick the cotton or cut the cane! Think of Little David not being entreated to play on his harp! Think of that and bust out crying!

Glasses of Eternal Spring.

PRETTY much all over the country there seems to be general complaint about the weather. People are saying the trouble with this winter is that there's so much winter to it.

But there's a philosophical way of regarding climatic unpleasantness. My friend, Ed Borein, the western painter, knew an aged chief on the Crow reservation up in the Northwest who, when the first freeze came, went to the agency and bought a pair of green goggles. There didn't seem to be anything wrong with the old Indian's sight—he had an eye like a captive hawk—so Borein asked questions.

"I'm no longer young," answered the ancient, "and I don't like the snow and ice. Now, wherever I look, I see only green things and it makes springtime in my heart."

Maybe once in awhile we could learn something from the lowly Red man.

BOB SCHIFFNER STARTS IN FAST HOOP BATTLE

(By BEN SWEENEY)

Few basketball games held in Armory Hall have equalled or surpassed the B game between the Yellowjackets and Grant Union high Friday evening, either in display of what an apparently beaten team can do, or in sheer excitement. The local B's remain winless, the Friday game being lost by one point, 30-29, in a three-minute overtime period; but the loss was a mere detail of a great fourth quarter that displayed the fighting spirit at the hearts of the local men.

Coach Barron had but seven men from which to choose, one of whom had never played in an inter-school game previously. Neither Organ nor Gates were in suits.

A first quarter score of 8-5 inspired the fans to a "fight, team, fight" theme, but a halftime score of 21-9, Grant leading, put the muffler on the spectators. At the end of the third quarter with Grant ahead, 27-16, the Grant Union band left the court, feeling that the game was too far gone to worry about. But the final session was one long to be remembered by those wso saw it. The spirit of the home team, centered around the shooting ability of Bob Schiffner, started the fireworks; and while a frenzied audience yelled itself hoarse, the gun sounded on a 29-29 score.

It was the overtime that spelled loss for the locals, but the loss of a game in which such fine spirit and excellent come back was displayed was unimportant. Schiffner went out in the last on personals, and was replaced by Proctor, a man new to the game. A free throw by Grant set the final score at 29-30.

Schiffner accounted for 16 of the points, and there is little too good to be said about his Friday night playing. Bennett scored 5 points, and played while he was practically "out" from fatigue and strain. Brown made four, and Clark, green bu trying, made three. Bonner and Proctor both saw action. All of the team-members should be commender, regardless of the loss.

The A score was 47-17, and the less said about the game, the better. The locals were comletely outplayed, and it was only through the courtesy of the Grant coach that two of the home men were allowed to play the remainder of the fourth quarter after making four personals in order to maintain a five man team for the Yellowjackets.

Points and scores follow: Wilde, 8; Lopez, 3; Santinelli, 3; Steger, 2; Doolittle, 1; Perez, Joyal and Elliott. All of the men on the bench were used.

BAR ASSOCIATION

E. H. Armstrong, Grass Valley attorney and secretary of the Nevada County Bar Association, has informed the membership of a dinner meeting of the organization for tonight, at the Bret Harte Inn at 6:30 o'clock.

Mr. A. H. Willard, of the fish and game commission who has resided in Nevada City for several months, received a promotion within the last few days. He was selected as Captain of Patrol in the Fish and Game Commission and will have under his supervision the counties of Glenn, Colusa, Butte, Yuba and Sutter. The appointment becomes effective at once and Mr. Willard will move with his family to Willows within the next day or two.
